

CATHOLIC CHURCH RECITAL

The congregation of the Catholic church have secured the services of Mme. Rosa d'Eriola, the distinguished Irish vocalist and entertainer, to give a recital in the opera house on Friday evening, November 29. Madame Rosa d'Eriola, (the Rose of Erin), is a native of Ireland and her stage name was bestowed upon her by the French press, she having made her first appearance in Paris. On going to London she at once sprang into favor and was commended to sing at Marlborough house before the king and queen, being appointed vocalist and organist to the latter. She has a superb voice and a charming stage presence, and is assisted by her husband, Mr. G. R. Vantom, who as a tenor singer and humorist has very few equals. He has been called a "Very Prince of Entertainers." A criticism in the Detroit Free Press says: "Rosa d'Eriola's concert last night was a decided success. Besides being a vocalist of the highest order she is wonderful as an organist. She has a very able assistant in Mr. Vantom." The Milwaukee Sentinel says: "Her entire program was sterling in its character, sparkling in its range and variety and exquisite in its rendition. In Mr. Vantom she has an able and competent assistant. He has an admirable and well modulated tenor voice and as a comedian and mimic was good—very good."

ADDED LAURELS.

O. N. Hilton of Denver, Colorado, who is well known here, is reported as having scored a victory in winning a celebrated murder case that has been on trial before the courts. The case has held the attention of all concerned for the past seven months and has created go little interest in that part of the country.

Mr. Hilton is a brilliant lawyer and his career in the west has been very gratifying to his friends. The case was tried at Salt Lake City.

MISS ANALDINE McCABE.

As the result of a capital romance and a brief courtship during moments snatched from helping to make the laws of Michigan, State Senator James H. Lee of Detroit, now assistant corporation counsel, and Miss Analdine McCabe of Paw Paw, a clerk in the secretary of state's office, are to be married Nov. 27.

Lee who is 25 years old, and was known as "the boy orator of the senate," by virtue of being its youngest member, was elected to the senate from Detroit in 1911, and met Miss McCabe, one of the prettiest clerks in the capitol, soon after he attended his first session. She was then a clerk in the senate.

The senator at once capitulated to the young capitol beauty and thereafter his spare time was spent in her company, when he was not taking trains for Paw Paw and Jackson, where Miss McCabe lives part of the time. After a courtship of six months Senator Lee induced Miss McCabe to forsake the duties of the secretary of state's office for a home in Detroit. The pair had planned to keep the wedding secret, but it leaked out.

The ceremony will take place in the home of John I. Breck, brother-in-law of the bride-to-be, in Jackson.

The above was taken from the Detroit Journal and will be of interest to the many friends of the lady in this place. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McCabe and was born and reared in this locality. She spent her school days here and only a comparatively short time ago went to Jackson to live. The groom has visited here a number of times, accompanying his fiancée, and has made many friends among her circle of acquaintances here.

The True Northerner wishes to be included in the long list of well wishers who will be offering congratulations to the young couple soon.
